FROM THE DESK....

We are glad to invite you all on the occasion of National Seminar on Srota Vichar to be held in our institute on 12th October 2017.

We are going to discuss about those millions of ducts, tubes & channels which make what we are, which keeps us connected to the interior & exterior world, which binds the body, mind & soul, which carry out all the life activities & functions called Srotas.

It is important for a student to understand srotas in detail. Anatomically, physiologically channels of circulation within body have great importance. By knowing which srotas are affected, the nature & extent of their disturbance one can understand a great deal about the disease process. Understanding the concept of Srotas & Srotavaigunya it facilitates the vaidya to treat the diseases.

There is need to study the fundamental & applied aspects of Srotas, so as to understand Ayurvedic Biology & disease process in depth. Hence to enhance and update the knowledge regarding Srotas we are inviting eminent personalities of Ayurveda faculty from various parts of India.
